

James D. Dilworth

CEO Europe Allianz Global Investors

As CEO Europe, James D. Dilworth is head of Allianz Global Investors' business in Europe and is a member of the Global Executive Committee. He joined the company in October 2009, assuming additional responsibilities as the head of European Business Development.

Prior to joining Allianz Global Investors, James was appointed CEO of Morgan Stanley Investment Managers EMEA in London. Until then, James spent seven years as Managing Director for Goldman Sachs Investment Management in Frankfurt, after responsibilities as Head of Business Development Germany and Austria for Goldman Sachs Investment Management International in London and Frankfurt.

Prior to this, James headed Institutional Sales for Bankers Trust in London for several years. He started his career with Chase Manhattan Bank in London and Frankfurt in 1980.

James holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and Finance of the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

